Appeal for Unity

The following reader is a paid advertisement and does not constitute an endorsement of "THE WAINWRIGHT STAR", as during the time of elections it is our policy to remain neutral throughout these columns. We believe this to be the fair way of dealing with all parties.

Analysis of Canadian Political Situation

A Federal Election will be held on June 11 next.

Six or more parties will be contesting for seats in the next parliament. It is generally conceded, that no one Party will win enough seats to become the Government of Canada, for the next period. Therefore, there will of necessity be a Coalition Government formed, composed of two or more groups.

The next Government will be the Post War Government and will formulate the policies that will either carry Canada forward into a period of peace and prosperity, or drive us back into worse conditions than those of the hungry thirties.

We face the prospect of a Tory dominated coalition on the one hand, or a Democratic Progressive coalition on the other.

We can not agree with the policies of isolation, from progressive forces, now being followed by the C.C.F. leadership, or their making an issue

LAURA B. WATTS, Sec.-Treas.

Opening of a new northern highway is in prospect, something of particular interest to motorists, according to information received by the Alberta Motor Association.

This is a 382-mile highway running from Grimshaw, north of Peace River to Great Slave Lake. It has been estimated that the cost of construction would be more than $2,000,000.

The federal government has announced that it is prepared to make an appropriation, to provide for the completion of the northern road, at the next session of parliament, probably in August.

The plan involves an agreement between the provincial and federal governments. Under this pact, the province would bear the cost of improving the highway from Peace River to Fort Vermilion, from Fort Vermilion to the northern boundary of the province, the dominion would bear two-thirds of the cost and the province the balance. For the rest of the highway which lies in the Northwest Territories, the dominion would carry the entire cost.

Along the route of this highway are the famous Alexandra Falls, which would prove a major attraction to motor tourists. The country also provides good fishing and big game hunting.

of the Social Credit Party under the leadership of Solon Low.

The Labor Progressive Party proposes a Coalition of progressive forces, composed of all parties and groups in Parliament who will bring forward policies that will meet the broadest needs of the Canadian People, expressed in a program of jobs at Union Wages, a farm that pays, Social Security and good homes.

To attain such a program there must be a continuance and expansion of industrial production, markets for farm products, restoration of the war devastated areas, and development of the backward countries through co-operation of all the

Miss V. Pon Busy With Studies in U.S.A.

The following is an excerpt from a letter written by Miss V. "Tiny" Pon to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Pon in town. Miss Pon left last fall to attend the University of Seattle in Seattle, Washington. She is taking a course in journalism and is active in other phases of university life as can be seen by the following:

I have been very busy with Hain Sun—our show which promises to be successful and my job as publicity chairman has been going well, but it takes so much time. We got a half-page spread in the society section of the Seattle Times to-day. That's something because Sunday space is at a premium. It was my duty to arrange for all the pictures and information so you can see what a job that would be. Besides I had to arrange 'press conference' with photographers from two other papers, make preparation for three radio programs, spot announcements for seven stations and a feature story every day in the Daily. In addition we sent out two thousand flyers, three hundred posters, got displays in department store windows, covered one hundred and fifty organized houses with announcements.

"To-night I am faced with a thousand words to write. I have to do my own script for our program over KRBC Monday at 4:00 p.m. We had a 15 minute broadcast scheduled for to-day but that has been cancelled because of the President's death. Sunday we are on for 25 minutes over KEMV. It seems probable that we will get sometime during the week over KIRO.

Ticket sales are fair. We have sold almost a thousand dollars worth but we hope to hit the three thousand dollar mark. Proceeds will go to aid university students in China.

My school work has suffered, but as I have mentioned before the experience has been invaluable. I have met so many important people whose association I would have missed otherwise. What I have learned is not taught in text books; I have benefited a great deal in dealing and talking with so many people. And also it has given me an inkling of one of the various phases of journalism—publicity.

Don't ask me why I start on a public-speaking career now but I have, Ladies' clubs are continually asking for Chinese speakers and International House has asked me this time to go about seventy miles from town. I have so little time this week to prepare anything and I know I will be dazed after Friday but as in all other cases, I'll get by."

United Nations and National Unity in Canada.

To achieve this unity in this Riding, the Labor Progressive Party in Battle River appeals to those people in the C.C.F. and Social Credit groups, who agree with the foregoing, to rally behind such a policy and we are prepared to consider proposals that may be brought forward by C.C.F. and/or Social Credit groups to build unity of the progressive people in Battle River, in the coming election, behind one candidate. Unless unity with other progressives is achieved in this Riding the Labor Progressive Party in Battle River must contest the election on the basis of policy and program briefly stated above and will run E. P. Taylor as its candidate.

Copies of this statement have been sent to H. E. Spencer, C.C.F. and Robt. Fair, Social Credit, candidates, and to their Campaign Committees, also to the local press.

Signed—For Election Committee L.P.P.

"Lifebouy Follies" Coming May 14th

Wainwright is to be honoured with the well known stage show, (not a moving picture programme) Lever Brothers', "Lifebouy Follies" under the auspices of the local Red Cross Branch, which will be presented in the Separate School Hall, Monday, May 14th. Admission by ticket only as there is only limited seating capacity—get yours now, either from Mrs. Lally, post office; or Gordon Graham, Massey Harris office. Doors open at 7:30 p.m.—curtain at 8:15.

"Lifebouy Follies" have entertained the general public as well as the armed forces from coast to coast. Lever Brothers are paying the entire cost of this performance, with the exception of the rental of the hall, leaving all the receipts in the hands of the Local Red Cross Branch. Each member of the cast is a professional performer and amazingly versatile.

Pat Rafferty, Jimmie Devan and Jack Ayre have been by-words for hilarious comedy and musical antics since they first won popularity in the renowned "Dumbells" which toured the trenches in the last Great War. Lovely Helen Bruce has a delightful soprano voice, does a bit of solo spot lighting, and appears in duets with Norman Evans, Canadian born baritone and CBC radio artist.

There are accordion medleys by pretty, nineteen year old Bonnie Lorene, new member of the Follies, always sufficiently tuneful to swing her audience into community singing. Irene Hughes who has whirled and prousted across some hundred stages, and Daphne MacFarlane, who specializes in song and guitar impersonations, round out the cast of eight.

Directed by Jack McLaren, producer of the first overseas concert party, with the Canadian Corps in the Great War, the Follies is a complete unit, fully equipped with its own scenery, curtains and sound equipment. Costumes and sets are the design of Ronald McRae, well known illustrator, and altogether the sponsors feel that Wainwright and District people who appreciate this type of stage show, are decidedly in for a well entertained evenings performance.

Blood Donors Urgently Needed

In battle zones across the world today, increasing numbers of soldiers sailors and airmen require immediate blood transfusions, to save them from fatal shock that is liable to follow wounds, crashes or explosions. Wouldn't you be proud to know that the blood you had donated, was being used to save a life?

If you are in good health, and between the ages of 18 and 60, you may be a blood donor.

The Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic will be in Wainwright, May 22, 23 and 24. Register immediately with any member of the local executive. The blood you donate today, may help to bring another valiant Canadian home tomorrow.

To show the way means to lead the way—not just to point it out.

STREAMLINING CAKE MAKING

So you think a first class cake can only be made the hard way—and that short cuts in cake making mean a cake you wouldn't be caught dead with! Ladies—this is 1945—and the age of streamlining. Cake making has been streamlined by the "Mix-Easy" method—with not one iota of cake quality sacrificed. Actually it will produce a richer cake that will keep fresh longer. It eliminates a number of tedious cake making steps. Prove this by comparing the recipe below with one of your standard recipes. Now make your cake with confidence—but be sure to use a cake flour that is ideally adapted to giving your cake the quality that is the despair of those who don't know the cake making ropes.

"Mix-Easy" Cocoa Cake

½ cup de luxe or breakfast cocoa
½ cup cold water
1½ cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup vegetable shortening
1½ cups brown sugar, firmly packed
¾ cup buttermilk or sour milk*
3 eggs, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix together cocoa and water, stirring until smooth; set aside.

Sift flour once, measure into sifter with soda and salt. Have shortening at room temperature; mix or stir just to soften. Sift in dry ingredients. Add brown sugar. (Force through sieve to remove lumps, if necessary.) Add ½ of buttermilk, the eggs, and vanilla. Mix until all flour is dampened; then beat 1 minute. Add remaining buttermilk and cocoa mixture, blend, and beat 2 minutes longer.

Turn into two 8-inch layer pans which have been greased, lined on bottoms with waxed paper, and again greased. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 30 minutes. Cover tops and sides with Snow Frosting.

*To sour fresh milk, add 1½ teaspoons vinegar or lemon juice to ½ cup milk; let stand in warm place for a few minutes.

NOTE: Mix cake by hand or at low speed electric mixer. Count only actual beating time. Or count beating strokes. Allow at least 100 full strokes per minute. Scrape bowl and beater or spoon often while mixing.

Snow Frosting
Combine 1 unbeaten egg white, ¼ cup sugar, dash of salt, 3 tablespoons water, and ¼ teaspoon light corn syrup in top of small double boiler or in small bowl, beating with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly with rotary egg beater, and cook 4 minutes, or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from boiling water, and add ½ teaspoon vanilla. Beat until thick enough to spread.

TASTY EGG AND LEMON COMBINATIONS

The egg and the lemon not only are very similar in shape and size but blended together they form an ideal team. Colorful decorations for your meatless day vegetable plate are hard cooked eggs and lemon quarters. The egg adds food value similar to meat. The juice of the lemon enhances the flavor of the other foods. Our little friends the egg and the lemon are also excellent as a "team" for your favorite Lemon Meringue Pie—and believe it or not, they help to turn out a delicious, flaky pie crust. Here are two recipes, one for the pie and one for the crust. Both will undoubtedly be repeated time and time again:

Three-Egg Lemon Meringue Pie
1 cup water
¼ cup sugar

6 tablespoons cornstarch
¾ cup cold water
3 well beaten egg yolks
1 tablespoon butter
6 tablespoons lemon juice
8 egg whites, beaten until frothy
8 tablespoons sugar

Bring water, sugar, salt and lemon peel to a boil in saucepan on direct heat. Add cornstarch, blended with ¼ cup cold water. Cook over low heat until thickened (about 5 minutes), stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Pour part of hot mixture slowly into beaten egg yolks. Return it to rest of hot mixture in saucepan. Stir well. Add butter and stir. Add lemon juice. Mix well.

Four filling into an 8-inch baked pastry shell. When filling is cool, top with a meringue, made by beating 6 tablespoons sugar gradually into beaten egg whites until they hold their shape in peaks. Put in oven at 325°F. 15 to 20 minutes, to brown tips of meringue.

Flaky Pie Crust

This recipe makes three 8-inch single pie shells. Unbaked dough may be kept in refrigerator until needed.
3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup shortening
1 slightly beaten egg
3 tablespoons lemon juice
Ice water
Sift flour and salt together. Cut in shortening. Add egg combined with lemon juice. Add gradually just enough ice water to bind dough together. Roll out thin and line an 8-inch pie plate. Bake in hot oven (475°F.) for 15 minutes.

DOUBLE DUTY DISH

Here is a flavorful point-saving meat loaf that is truly a double-duty dish. It provides an excellent main course when served hot—and when cold, it slices nicely for delicious sandwiches to go in the lunch box the following day.

The addition of corn flakes helps to provide very important whole grain food values; which makes this a recipe well worth keeping in your "permanent" file.

Liver Loaf

1 pound liver (beef, pork, or lamb)
2 small onions
½ pound sausage meat
1 cup finely crushed corn flakes
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon celery salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 eggs, well beaten
1 slice bacon

Cover liver with 1 cup boiling water and simmer gently 5 minutes. Drain, reserving broth. Put liver and onions through food chopper, using medium-fine cutter. Add sausage meat, corn flakes, seasonings, and eggs. Add enough broth to moisten slightly; mix well. Pack mixture into greased 8x4x3-inch pan. Place bacon on top. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 45 minutes, or until done. Serve hot or cold. Makes 8 servings.

Perhaps you have depended upon canned fruits for your winter menus. Then now's the time to become more fully acquainted with winter's unrationed, fresh, fruits—golden-skinned, juicy oranges; rosy apples; yellow and brown pears; avocados; bananas; and the all-purpose, flavorful lemon.

Orange and Lemons Give Freshness

Oranges and lemons are especially important in winter menus. That breakfast glass of orange juice does more than taste good and stimulate appetite. It gives you your daily quota of vitamin C, when other sources of this important food element are out of season. The body does not store vitamin C. It should be furnished by some food, eaten daily.

The habit many people follow in drinking a glass of lemon juice and water on arising each morning is also a most healthful way to include fruit in the diet.

Oranges and lemons can be combined with other winter fresh fruits in many delicious fruit cups, salads and desserts. These also combine well with canned fruit. They make the latter go farther and give them a pleasing flavor "freshness."

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

TUBERCULOSIS OF THE BOVINE TYPE AND UNDULANT FEVER

Tuberculosis of childhood, excepting the pulmonary type, is caused by contaminated milk. A careful survey of 352 tuberculosis children in one United States city showed that 25 per cent suffered from the bovine type. The source of infection in these cases was raw (unpasteurized) milk. Some years after the introduction of compulsory milk pasteurization in Toronto, a survey revealed that the only children in hospital suffering from tuberculosis of the bovine type were from outside the city.

Most favored body points for tuberculous germs from raw milk are the lymph gland of the intestines and the neck and bones. Tuberculosis of bones and joints causes many crippling deformities.

A common disease in cattle is infectious abortion from germs called brucella. Goats, pigs and cows can be infected with these germs which rarely attack children but which cause undulant fever in adults.

Undulant fever is contracted by drinking raw milk from diseased cows or through contact with infected animals or by handling infected meat. It also may be spread through cheese, butter and buttermilk. There are three strains of brucella with the one of pig origin the most virulent. When undulant fever causes death, this strain is generally to blame. Undulant fever derived from cow's milk is the mildest and death rarely occurs from this type.

However, cows sometimes are infected with a virulent strain that originated elsewhere and this strain has been found in cow's milk.

BEAUTY ROUTINE FOR THE NURSERY SET

Beauty care should begin in the nursery. No matter how busy you are, it's important to make the daily bath a part of the regular routine, whether your brood includes a baby, a toddler, a kindergarten, or all three. When your young hopeful has been carefully tubbed, he should be wrapped in a big bath towel and patted until he is thoroughly dry.

To protect tender young skin against the drying action of wind and sun, it's effective daily beauty technique to give an all over rub down after the bath with baby lotion. Developed by a famous maker of special baby products, this new lotion is a fragrant, pure white, emulsified product containing lanolin, with an antiseptic agent added for extra protection. It is intended for all-purpose use and for cleansing and lubricating baby's skin. An oil in water emulsion of highly refined mineral oil, baby lotion provides a discontinuous film which gives full protection against chapping and chafing and permits baby's skin to function normally. Its antiseptic ingredient reduces the danger of skin infections by inhibiting the growth of surface bacteria. You'll find a good flat surface is the best area for dressing and undressing baby. As you'll always want to keep one hand on him, it's important to place within easy reach, before you start the bath, a pile of folded diapers and a tray holding cotton swabs, baby lotion, baby powder and a jar of sterile water. Keep two towels and two wash cloths close at hand and identify the one you use exclusively for baby's face.

Use Baby Lotion

Be sure to apply baby lotion after each diaper change to protect baby against chafes and rashes. And remember, before each trip out of doors that neck as well as cheeks, chin and hands, should receive a gentle application of baby lotion as protection against the weather.

Anything that water or oil will remove can be removed efficiently with baby lotion. There's no danger of stains, and the lotion is guaranteed not to turn rancid.

Peace isn't just the ending of differences. It's ending indifference.

FARMERS look to the FUTURE

THE VETERANS' LAND ACT

The Veterans' Land Act, 1943, provides for the establishment of war veterans on the land in different ways to meet varying circumstances. Three distinct types of settlement are available but in all cases there must be reasonable assurance that the veteran will be able to succeed.

Full time farming is the first way for which land settlement is provided. As a general rule only men with good, practical farming experience will be established in this way since it is most likely those brought up on farms or trained to farm work would be most successful farming on their own account.

The second type of establishment, the small holding settlement, is the provision of a rural or semi-rural home on a small acreage of land near by the veteran's regular place of industrial or other employment. In order to qualify for this type of enterprise the veteran must have a job that is likely to be continuous, have a pension or other income of a paying business of his own. The veterans who require constant or recurrent hospitalization, regardless of the size of pension, are not counted in this class. There is no restriction as to the type of regular work in which the veteran engages while enjoying a small holding settlement, other than it must be a lawful occupation.

Commercial fishing is the third form of establishment under the Act, by which small holdings with homes are coupled with the purchase of commercial fishing equipment. Two veterans might obtain a home and land holding and pool their commercial fishing equipment, provided by the Act, under a joint contract with the Director.

The primary objective of the Veterans' Land Act is to make it possible for a veteran to become the owner of the property he undertakes to purchase within his working days and to this end he is not being settled with a debt on the property which it would be impossible to repay. The State absorbs a substantial part of the cost of establishment provided the veteran fulfils the terms of his contract for ten years.

The Government may spend a maximum of $4,800.00 for land and buildings for each veteran settling under the Act whether on a farm or a small holding and may provide a maximum of $1,200.00 for live stock and farm equipment. On small holdings much less than $1200 worth of stock and equipment will usually meet reasonable needs of the veteran. In the case of commercial fishermen the $1,200.00 maximum would go towards fishing equipment. The veteran contracts to pay 10 per cent of the cost of the land and buildings in cash plus two thirds of the cost of the land and buildings on time up to twenty five years, with interest at 3 1-2 per cent per annum. Thus in the case of a maximum settlement contract, the veteran would pay $480.00 down plus $3,200.00 on time, or a total of $3,680.00, as against $6,000.00 spent on his behalf. The State in such a case absorbs $2,320.00 of the cost. Agreements may be prepaid at any time but a veteran cannot obtain title within ten years of establishment unless he repays the total outstanding cost of both land and chattels.

Veterans who already have farms of their own may receive first mortgage loans up to $4,400.00 for the removal of encumbrances, the erection of permanent improvements and the purchase of live stock and equipment, providing the total does not exceed 60 per cent of the appraised value of the farm. The live stock and equipment maximum is $2,500.00 and it must not exceed 50 per cent of the value of the farm. The interest rate in both cases is 3 1-2 per cent.

While the Administrators of the Act have been and are purchasing suitable farms and small holding sites to set up a reserve from which returning veterans may make a selection; no veteran need select his property from this reserve. He may settle anywhere within the Dominion provided he complies with the provisions of the Act and provided the suitability and price of the land be approved by the Veterans' Land Act Administration.

The suitability of the veteran to the type of holding he proposes to secure is safeguarded by the appointment of regional advisory committees which pass upon the qualifications of applicants to carry out the type of establishment desired and the suitability of the land on which they wish to settle.

Thirty five of these committees have already been set up at strategic centres throughout the Dominion, headed by permanent regional supervisors who are practical agriculturists and land men.

There is no legal impediment to the establishment of single men under any of the three plans within the Act but since homes are basic in all three, family settlement will predominate. Here the regional advisory committee is also called upon to study the qualifications of the veteran's wife to rural or semi-rural life. Female members of the active service are on an equal footing with male members so far as eligibility based on service is concerned but must, like male veterans, be fully qualified before establishments are made. Where such a girl is married to a non-veteran her husband's qualifications for the task of land settlement will be considered. If both man and wife are veterans only one of them may receive financial assistance under the Act.

Many farmer fathers of soldiers, realizing that a land-settling veteran's row will be easier to hoe if he has some capital of his own—an extra cow, a little better farm or an additional piece of machinery—are putting aside Victory Bonds for this purpose. Soldiers who are farmers' sons and who plan to take advantage of the Veterans' Land Act plan are likewise making steady purchases of Victory Bonds to make easier their road to rural success and to bring closer the day of their return to the land.

ADD SOMETHING NEW

Most Canadians are too conservative in the matter of new vegetables, professional gardeners point out. For generations they have been content to grow a very limited variety—beans, carrots, peas, lettuce, and potatoes and corn covering the complete range in too many gardens.

This is a great mistake as scores of vegetables can be grown to perfection anywhere in Canada, and in addition there are usually several different varieties of each. In recent decades there has been some improvement, but the average garden is still limited.

In addition to the standard kinds noted above, there are many other that should be included such as spinach, swiss chard, peppers, turnips, parsnips, onions, broad beans, kohlrabi, red cabbage, musk and watermelons, broccoli, endive, cress, parsley, head lettuce, brussels sprouts, celery, chinese cabbage, some of the white sweet corns as well as the bantam, soy beans, etc.

Another point too often overlooked is the introduction of improved varieties. Some of the old standbys of ten years ago are completely overshadowed by earlier, smoother or harder sorts. By choosing carefully from a good Canadian seed catalogue one can create a vegetable garden that will not only have much more variety than was possible a generation ago, but one that will yield higher quality and over a much longer period.

Cultivate it First
Thorough, preliminary cultivation is essential in both flower and vegetable growing. Where this is not done the gardener will be on his knees half the summer fighting twigs and other weeds that should have been thoroughly eradicated in the first place.

Where at all possible the experts advise fall plowing or digging of the land to be gardened. Then it should be cultivated thoroughly again in the spring. The objective is to have the soil worked up fine and free of weeds especially, twitch, sow thistle and other perennial weeds, before the seeds are planted. Rather than rush radish, carrots and peas at the first opportunity into unprepared soil, old-timers advise waiting for another week if necessary, and in the meantime cultivating thoroughly and deeply. This extra work before the rows are planted will repay itself many times over in the hoeing and weeding it saves later.

Showy Flowers
An amazing showing can be made with a few annual flowers. Cosmos, giant marigolds, zinnias, petunias, portulaca, nicotina, calendula, alyssum, nasturtiums, etc., are easily grown almost anywhere in Canada. Some of the larger flowers can actually be used in the place of shrubs. Seeds should be started early and in finely prepared soil. Plants are transplanted to permanent quarters when they are well established with several sets of leaves. Ready started bedding plants can be bought. For husky growth, cosmos, gladioli, dahlias, giant marigolds and zinnias

MESSAGE

FOR FARMERS

Canadian farmers are confronted with a rare opportunity to do some effective planning in their own interest and in that of the nation. W. D. Albright declared recently in Alberta. Canadian farm income, which reached a low of $383,000,000 in 1932, has risen to $722,000,000 in 1939 and to $1,748,000,000 (estimated gross income) in 1944. While a good deal of the jump is represented by price increase, volume has held up well. Every important wartime call upon Canadian farm production has been substantially met, or more than met, in spite of labour shortage and the shortage of new machinery. But while this magnificent record was being achieved the farm plant has been running down at heel, and that cannot go on forever. It is a good time for each farmer to sit down and carefully consider a definite plan for the future, looking toward the improvement of his farm enterprise, improvement of his farm home, the future welfare of his family and the possibility of setting aside something for a nest egg and keeping it as a reserve against contingencies. Victory Bonds are the ideal means to these ends but it must be remembered that $1.00 will not do the work of $2.00. Each farmer must consider what he needs most. Perhaps it is a well or a digout, or water on tap in the house.

I hold no brief from any government department and I do not propose to judge the burning of aircraft which has taken place lately, but as a pilot and air engineer of some eighteen years' experience, I can dilate on the general theme, and possibly throw some light on why certain things happen.

First, let us take the case of two famous types of aircraft which are or soon will be on their way to the knacker's yard. These are the Avro and Airspeed Oxford.

Both were designed some ten years ago as "feeder line aircraft" to carry local traffic to and from the great airline terminals. Although they had neither the performance nor the weight lifting ability for first line military aircraft, they were ordered in large numbers by the Air Ministry when it became necessary to expand the R.A.F. in a hurry.

At that time the prime requisite was for numbers of aircraft to fill in while the high performance types were cutting their teeth and having the bugs ironed out, and for trainers to reach pilots multi-engine technique and to train crews for the expansion scheme.

FAITHFUL WORK HORSES
 When the Commonwealth Air Training Plan was inaugurated the R.A.F. agreed to supply the flying equipment, and large numbers of Ansons and Oxfords were shipped to Canada, where they did yeoman service in training pilots, air navigators and air bombers. The Anson was subsequently built in Canada. The great Plan is now nearly finished and there is no further use for these faithful work horses. The question therefore arises, what to do with them.

Let us first consider what they are.

Both are similar in essentials, so we will take the Anson as typical. As at present fitted, it will probably have five bucket seats, no appointments or creature comforts for passengers, but bang in the middle of the cabin is a large and obnoxious radio. The nose carries a bomb sight and there are bomb racks and racks in the wings. The pilot's instrument panel, barely adequate for training, is not within a mile of being fit for serious air line work. Some models have too much window for passenger comfort, some hardly any.

In order to convert this aircraft for civilian use, say for an airline and assuming that the air-frame and engines are airworthy by civil flying standards, it will be necessary to remove all military equipment, which is largely obsolete, and useless except as junk, fit the cabin with seats and an insulated lining, install an adequate heating and ventilating system re-arrange and add to the pilot's instrument panels, including a whole new set for the co-pilot, install detectors and up to date radio equipment. This in addition to re-doping in some other color than "training yellow" and general prettying up.

We have now spent several thousands of dollars on this aging aircraft, and what have we got?

We have a machine which on seven hundred or so horsepower will carry six or eight passengers at a rather doubtful 150 m.p.h. for some four hundred miles. The airframe and engines have already done several hundred, perhaps thousands, of hours of the roughest kind of service-training and the cost of their maintenance will therefore be heavy. For the same reason the two primary requisites of an air line, safety and regularity of service, will be difficult to maintain. Breakdowns will be frequent and passengers few. The morale of flying and ground crews handling such ancient equipment will be low.

As against this, take only one of the post-war models for air line work of which the details have recently been released. This aircraft, on 1,100 horse-power carries ten passengers at over 200 m.p.h. for a thousand miles. It is new, all metal, and designed for cheap and easy maintenance. Any first class airline would be proud to own it. Yet, if we insist on throwing the old stuff on the market at cut-throat prices the factories which are getting ready to convert from military to commercial needs will have to close down, and thousands of people will be thrown out of work. Where then is our much touted program of "jobs for all"?

NO GOOD AS FREIGHTERS

Suppose we consider the old hack merely as a freighter. Even air freight must be handled comparatively cheaply, and our old war horse is neither cheap to run nor economical to maintain. The bulk of freight traffic is in the north, but bush flying demands a highly specialized type of aircraft too. Our repatriated wreck was never designed for skids or floats, the cabin door, which cannot be enlarged without seriously weakening the fuselage structure, is not big enough to admit a decent sized bale of fur, let alone the base of the bush pilot's life, a double decker busk. And the only part of a diamond drill outfit that could be got in is the crew.

There remains the private owner's field. But any private owner who can afford to run an aircraft which burns thirty or forty gallons of gas per hour can also afford one of the natty new models which will be available.

It appears then that there is no place in the skyways of the future for our old machine, so the logical thing to do is to reduce it to produce.

The wings are largely glued together out of plywood. It was the very best kind of plywood, though very thin. But did you ever try to unstuck any of the joints of an aircraft woodworker? You can bust everything except his joints. By the time you're through taking it apart you've spent hours and hours and have precious little to show for it. The only course left, then is to burn it. The fuselage too may be plywood, if it's not a steel tube structure, welded up in a jig. Anyone (in peace time) want a bunch of steel tubing, slightly used and in casual lengths?

The engines were very good, once. They were built at Coventry. But do you remember what happened to that unfortunate place? Jerry didn't leave much. We didn't get any spares for a long time, and then the U-boats took their toll of those that were shipped. You know that a car engine must be overhauled every few thousand miles to keep it in good shape; well these engines regularly did over a hundred thousand miles between what were loosely referred to as overhauls. The people who did these overhauls achieved as much as was humanly possible, but due to the lack of spares it became more of an inspection, cleaning, and reassembling with the same parts. Nobody knows how many more hours some of these parts have run beyond what even the manufacturers believed at one time to be possible. Now they are to all intents and purposes worn out shells which look like engines. They are built of many kinds and grades of metals, and it may or may not be economically sound policy to recover them as scrap.

Much has been written about these aircraft which have been destroyed as "useless" having demonstrated their utility by flying to their last resting place. The foregoing will, I hope, explain that.

But it is also true that an aircraft may be a wreck from some points of view, and still fly. It is nothing unusual for a time-expired machine to be delivered to a repair depot with instruments that do not work, oil lines taped up, threadbare tires, non-existent brakes, etc. But besides, there is a vast difference between what may in an emergency be used by the Air Force, and what is demanded by the Department of Transport, watching over the lives of the air travellers.

DIFFERENT HERE

In conclusion, the public have little to fear from the consequences of an intelligent program of destruction of old equipment. The big danger lies in the handling of usable equipment. There are many potential bargains, now especially in other than flying equipment, and wherever there is an opportunity to get rich at government expense, there are you will find the rogues. Moreover, this kind of transaction is easily covered and kept from the view of the general public, so J. Q. Citizen would be well advised to take his eyes off the bonfires long enough to consider the business of the buying and selling which may go on.

A REAL CANADIAN

The promise made that if we cast our bread on the waters it will return to us after many days often is disregarded and even derided as being "just too silly". Of course it is not intended to be taken in a literal sense. In a metaphorical sense it has a deep meaning, however and there have been many strikingly significant fulfillments. To do a good deed, to help someone who is in need or distress, to do one's duty even at the expense of great inconvenience and effort is not a losing game in the end as many can testify.

A striking corroboration comes from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board at Winnipeg and concerned a case that came to the knowledge of the officials. It had to do with the prosaic duty and responsibility of saving gasoline coupons. The great purpose of this required saving is to ensure a plentiful supply for operations at the war fronts. The story as revealed at the Winnipeg W.P.T.B. office indicates that the rigid saving of gasoline coupons of one Manitoba farmer may have helped to save the life of the farmer's airmen son.

Last year this farmer, who came to Canada from a central European country and established a home and a farm in central Manitoba, saw his son leave to go overseas with the air force. He had secured gasoline coupons so that he could operate his farm truck. After his son went overseas the farmer began to think about the gasoline which is used to operate an airplane and so he began to use his coupons only for very essential trips. He walked to a nearby town for groceries rather than use his truck. He planned any trips which he had to make in such a way that he only travelled the shortest distance to and from his destination.

Recently his airmen son came home and told the story of an eventful flight. He related how his plane had been hit while on a bombing raid over Germany and he had barely managed to get it back to England in safety. "Dad", said the son, "if we had had 10 gallons less of gasoline, we would never have made it."

So the farmer told this story when he was in to see W. A. MacQuarrie, truck control officer for the Department of Munitions and Supply, Winnipeg, about renewing his permit for the operation of his truck.

And he returned coupons which would have allowed him to purchase one hundred gallons of gasoline. As he passed the coupons to Mr. MacQuarrie the farmer said, "You see, I think I might have been responsible for my son's safe return."

Mr. MacQuarrie reported that this was the first time that any coupons had been returned voluntarily in the three years in which he had been dealing with truck operators. Mr. MacQuarrie's comment was, "That farmer is a real Canadian."—Ft. William Daily Times-Journal

An important staff change was made at Broadcasting Station CJCA May 1, when Rolfe Barnes became assistant manager, to fill the vacancy created by F. Walker Blake, who left the Taylor and Pearson organization to become manager of CKUA.

Mr. Blake was associated with Taylor and Pearson for more than seven years, coming to Edmonton in 1938 from a Winnipeg station. He was first a salesman, then sales manager, and for the past two years, assistant manager.

Mr. Barnes joined T & P Broadcasting Co. Ltd., at Calgary in 1938. One year later he came to CJCA as salesman. Two years ago he was promoted to the position of commercial manager. He has now taken over duties as assistant manager.

Plan Scenic Highway Opening About May 15

Opening of the Jasper-Lake Louise scenic road by May 15 is scheduled, according to information which the Alberta Motor Association has received from federal parks officials.

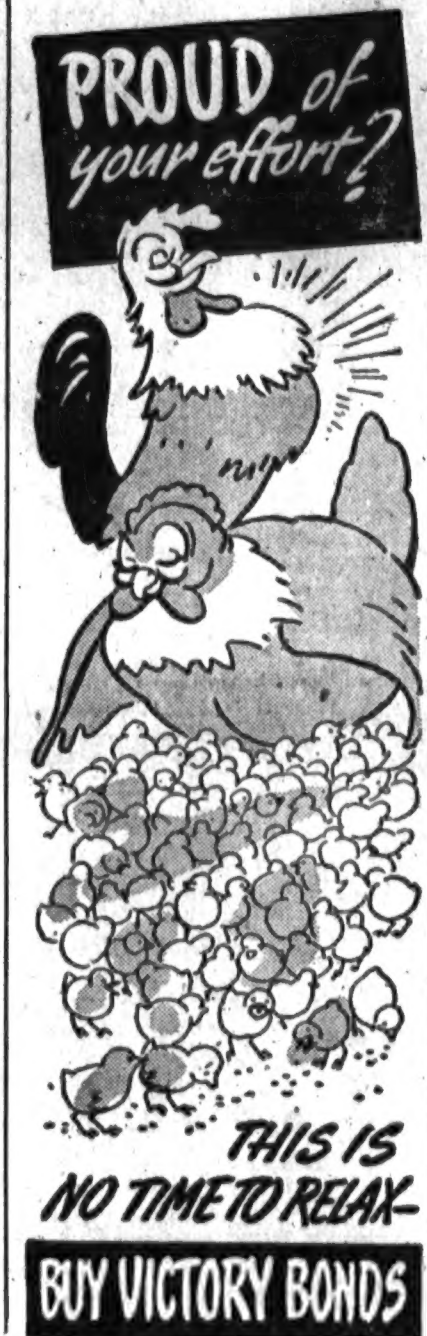

Providing that normal conditions prevail, there is no doubt that this popular mountain highway will be opened to traffic at the date mentioned.

This year, an increased volume of motor travel is expected in the national parks. Thousands of people are planning to take advantage of the short distance drives, in view of the probable continuation of gasoline rationing and tire conservation regulations.

Consequently, an increased volume of park holiday travel is planned. At Jasper Park alone, officials anticipate that the number of cars will double the registrations in 1944, though last years showed a substantial gain over the previous year.

Other national parks also are making plans to handle an increased number of visitors during the summer season.

The greatest battle is still to be fought—the battle against our own selfishness.

National Revenue

As it's getting along to the time of year when people start reaching for the aspirins and their income tax forms, this week's government department is National Revenue—a department responsible for collecting income taxes, excise taxes, duties and customs duties. It maintains 151 customs-excise ports and 19 district income tax offices throughout the country.

It does a pretty efficient job of hauling in the shekels, and because it does, half our war costs are paid for out of taxation. Of course everybody knows how taxes have gone up, but did you know that in the year ending March 31, 1939, only $142 million was paid in income tax, while last year collections ran up to $1,635 million?

Those extra pennies you pay on soft drinks, cigarettes, chocolate bars, chewing gum, etc., ran up to $673 million last year, compared with $165 million before the war. Even customs duties increased, though imports declined, from $39 million to $187 million!

Needless to say, the number of people paying income tax has gone up, too, from 526,000 to 2,800,000! And it has taken more people to sort and check and receipt the tax returns: 1,312 in 1939 and 5,390 today!

Seed Potatoes for France
Canada's disease-free seed potatoes are in big demand in the liberated countries. France has just placed her second order for 15,000 tons of them. Another thing that makes Canadian seed potatoes popular is that, thanks to our controlled prices, other countries can acquire their shipments at ceiling prices.

Easier Credit for Farmers
Benefits under the Farm Improvement Loans Act passed at the last session of Parliament are now available. Finance Minister Halsey announced on March 2.

The act enables farmers to obtain loans up to $3,000 from their local banks for a wide variety of purchases and extending over terms up to 10 years at 5% simple interest. The banks receive a guarantee from the government against loss to the extent of 10% of the amount lent up to the $250,000,000 limit established by the Act, which itself is for a period of three years.

Discharged!

Up to the end of 1944, approximately 200,000 men and women have been discharged from the armed services, in this proportion: Army, 165,000; Navy, 7,000; Air Force, 28,000. Of these, 27,000 were N.R.M.A. troops.

Victory Over Tetanus

During the Great War, tetanus, commonly known as lockjaw, killed 70 out of every 100 soldiers infected. During this war, not a single case of it has been reported in the Canadian Army!

This remarkable achievement is the result of compulsory immunization of army personnel. Ordered early in 1940, every officer and man in the service was given injections of tetanus toxoid. The toxoid, developed at the Pasteur Institute of Paris in 1923, makes the body immune to infection by stimulating the production of what medical men call tetanus "antibodies".

Farm Notes

SAW FLY CONTROL SHOULD START NOW

In 1944 more than 10,000,000 bushels of wheat were destroyed in Alberta as a result of saw fly damage. According to J. L. Eaglesham, Supervisor of Pest Control, there is no reason why damage of this kind cannot be prevented in 1945 if farmers in the saw fly areas will take a few simple precautions. By a combination of rather simple changes in farming practices the saw fly population can be reduced to a negligible figure on any farm in Alberta. The programme proposed consists not of one master stroke but of a number of proven practices each of which will whittle down the loss. These practices include the adequate use of trap strips, delayed wheat seeding, the seeding of crops in proper order, the avoiding of stubbling-in wheat on wheat stubble, use of saw fly resistant crops, and the use of shallow fall or spring tillage to destroy the saw fly grubs.

Delayed wheat seeding and the seeding of crops in proper order are closely allied, says Mr. Eaglesham. The usual farming practice consists in sowing wheat first, then oats, then barley, but there is considerable evidence to show that the order of seeding crops should be reversed for best results. Barley seeded early, appears to yield better than when seeded late. So do oats, while wheat in the tests yielded well or better when seeded later than the two other crops. It would seem then that the most satisfactory order of seeding would be trap strips, then coarse grains and lastly the main wheat crop, after the trap strips are showing through the ground. Saw fly resistant crops such as oats, barley and flax can very well be used in conjunction with summerfallow to clean up large fields. A quarter section cleared of saw flies this year by using summerfallow and resistant crops can be kept clean next year by the use of traps around the field.

WHY APHIDS AMASS

Gardeners are frequently puzzled as to why aphids, or plant lice, amass

so rapidly and are able to cause such serious damage in so short a time. The explanation is simple. Unlike most insects, particularly in the spring and late summer, aphids reproduce by giving birth to living young. The offspring in about a week are themselves producing young. When this process is continued for some time, the number of aphids becomes tremendous and far outstrips the relatively slow increase of insects which reproduce only by depositing eggs.

SUITABLE LAND IMPORTANT IN PRODUCTION OF REGISTERED & CERTIFIED SEED

The location and general conditions of the land to be used for seed production are extremely important, states N. N. Bentley, Supervisor of Crop Improvement. Seed growers must be able to expect good yields of bright, plump, well-ripened grain in the average season and they must have clean land that will produce clean crops. Growers whose locations are subject to frequent frosts or hail storms will suffer heavy losses. Uneven or sharply rolling land will not produce seed of uniform quality and land that is exposed to contamination by flood waters or soil drifting cannot be kept clean.

Soil on which a cereal crop has been produced undoubtedly will contain shattered seeds that will produce volunteer plants the following year. Either good summerfallow land or newly broken sod which has been plowed early and well-prepared the previous season is generally most satisfactory.

The battle against impurities must be carried on, not only throughout the growing season but on through harvest, storage and seed cleaning. Weeds present the greatest problem but care must also be taken to prevent mixing with other kinds of grain and with other varieties. Time and expense are consumed in providing the extra cleaning of machines and granaries. Live stock frequently scatter impurities if allowed to travel over land that is to be used for seed production.

World of Wheat

H. G. L. Strange,
Director, Research Department,
Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

SOW PLentifully

About 200 B.C., around 2,145 years ago, Cato, a famous Grecian farmer and writer on agriculture, said this: "The other part of tillage is to have good seed and to sow plentifully."

All modern advice to farmers about rates of seeding simply confirm this age-old statement. The very latest advice by the Dominion Experimental Farms is that whenever a farmer is in any doubt about the rate of seeding, heavier sowing will give him a better assurance of a higher yield than lighter sowing. This applies especially to large-kernelled varieties such as Red Bobs, Marquis and Regent wheat; Plush, Newal, Sunalta, Rex and Hannchen barley which should be sown at a higher rate than the smaller-kernelled varieties such as Thatcher wheat; Gartons, O.A.C. 21, Mensury, Wisconsin 38, Regal, Prospect and Titan barley. It is found, further, that if seeding is delayed then a heavier rate of seeding is required to obtain a good yield.

Heavier seeding, too, it is found, will control weeds better than lighter seeding. In short, it seems that a little extra money spent on more seed to the acre is likely to bring good returns to the farmer.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Trade estimates place the Argentine corn crop at between 118 and 138 million bushels, compared with 344 million in 1944—Lack of moisture in some important producing regions is limiting wheat seeding operations in Australia—Prospects for the 1945 French wheat crop are unfavourable.

The greatest U.S.A. winter wheat crop ever produced is forecast for this year—Seasonable weather has prevailed in all Western European countries, and field work is progressing as rapidly as local circumstances permit—Bolivia reports favourable crop conditions; slightly above average yields of wheat and corn are expected on the basis of current reports.

Low Cost of Living

It may seem to most of us who buy things that prices have risen a lot since the war started, but the Dominion Bureau of Statistics tells us we are pretty lucky. Taking the first six months of 1939 at 100, the Canadian cost of living index stands at 116 in the latest tabulation. Which means that, with the exception of New Zealand at 112, Canada's rise in prices is the smallest of all the allies!

WOMAN IN A SHOE

Prince Rupert—The old woman who lived in a shoe had nothing on the mother and father who boarded a Canadian National Railways train at Prince Rupert, B.C. for a trip to Alberta.

When the conductor made his rounds to collect the tickets he nearly fainted. Eleven members of the family—parents and nine children—occupied the drawing room the father had previously reserved.

No report has been received as to how they bedded down at night. One thing is certain, however; a new kind of record has been established for drawing-room occupancy.

So you think you're too old to fly? Well what do you think is the safest age at which to learn, or the safest age after you have learned. The answer is 40 to 45 for beginners, and 60 to 65 for those who have already learned.

Those answers come from the Civil Aeronautics Bureau of the United States government and are based on an investigation of over 4,000 private flying accidents, accidents ranging from brushed wing tips to complete washouts, though it is interesting to note that in only one out of 30 accidents was there a fatality.

It may take a middle-aged man an extra three or four hours to learn to solo. He might be useless as a fighter pilot, but he's just about twice as safe as a student pilot than the thrill-seeking youngster of 20. And when it comes to steady hour after hour of pleasure flying, a private pilot 60 to 65 years of age can fly eight times as far as the youngster of 20 without an accident.

In fact, the older can expect to fly 400 years without a fatal accident and that is based on pre-war figures. There are many reasons why private flying should be safer after the war, with a corresponding increase to many times the 400 years.

When you come to think that there is a fatal accident every year in private motoring for every few hundred motor vehicles on the road, you can see that the safety record of private flying isn't so bad.

According to the figures the age group under 20 is the most dangerous. Those 25 to 30 are more than twice as safe, and 40 to 45 is twice as safe again. While men older than 45 who already know how to fly are even safer, they aren't quite as safe as the 40 to 45 group as beginners.

There is no reason why most of our post-war student pilots should not be men over 40, for they are the men who can best afford to learn flying.

Some of the oldsters flying today include Bernarr MacFadden, over 70, an active pilot, W. T. Piper learned when 54 and has piled up hundreds of hours since. Now well along in his 60's he was the only pilot to arrive on time for the Elkins, W.Va. airport dedication, a few weeks before he came to Canada to address the Ontario Air Conference in Hamilton.

A grandmother, 60 years old, of Ann Arbor, Mich., flies her own Cub Coupe and before the war took off by herself on a little jaunt to California and back via the Northwest.

A. I. Martin, a farmer in New York State is 81 years old and flies his own Cub, according to Air Facts, a magazine for pilots. In Colorado, Starr Nelson is 77 and learned to fly at 73. Bill Strehmeier says he knows a chap, 60, in New Jersey who took a prying because he was getting too creaky in the bones for golf. For that matter, our old friend Major-General F. F. Worthington, who has turned in one of Canada's finest military careers and has just left his post as Commandant at Camp Borden to take over the Pacific army command, learned to fly a year or two ago in England. As commander of a Canadian armoured division he got himself a small English-built Miles as a personal plane.

Soon most of the other generals from Eisenhower down were following his example and grabbing off Cub Grasshoppers as fast as they could get their hands on them. Most of these generals are 50 or over, yet they nearly all fly their own from time to time.

BIGGER PLANES

Winnipeg—The airplanes that will be used in Canada after the war for the main trans-continental service will be over four times the size of the present T.C.A. planes, John T. Dymont, superintendent of Engineering, Trans-Canada Air Lines, told members of the Lion's Club at a meeting in Winnipeg.

Weighing almost 80,000 pounds against the present 20,000, they will be driven by four engines, instead of two, having a maximum cruising speed of over 300 M.P.H., carry 44 passengers, and have sleeper accommodation, he stated. Mr. Dymont said that oxygen masks would be unnecessary when flying at high altitudes. It might be safely said, he continued, that air liners will not be available within a year, but how soon after that depends upon the progress of the war.

Inland lakes of Canada contain more than half the fresh water of the world. Canada's share of the Great Lakes alone has an area of more than 34,000 square miles.
